

Free Resources

One Thousand Days of Love from Episcopal Relief and Development

A large collection of crafts, scripture, prayers, and reflections. More than enough for a household or congregation to work through.

#AdventWord from VTS

a global, online Advent Calendar. Each morning, meditations are distributed, and prayers and responses may be offered on the corresponding webpage.

Advent in a Pandemic blog post by Christine V. Hides

Full of guidance on how to plan for Advent (her thoughts can also inform you as you begin to consider Lent!), as well as practical links and tools to support your own ministry.

Family Advent Craft Day and Family-Friendly Resources from Building Faith

The first link contains several ideas and activities for families to do to move through the season of Advent. The second link is a collection of advent calendars, musical playlists, and prayers for households of all kinds to use this Advent.

Advent-Christmas-Epiphany Activity Pack from Church Publishing

An activity pack featuring many of the wonderful resources from Church Publishing. Good for households of all shapes and sizes, and includes both ideas for in-person gatherings and virtual.

Paid Resources

Printable Advent Collections from SALT Project

The SALT Project has a collection of different resources for household or congregational use: everything from poetry collections, daily devotionals, activity packs for families, coloring pages, and more. This is a paid resource, but it is a beautiful collection, and well made.

Shadow and Light: A Journey into Advent by Tsh Oxenreider

Daily devotional to take individuals or households through the season of advent. Each day includes Scripture, a reflection, a question and a simple activity to engage the senses. Available as hardcover or ebook. Also, enjoy her beautiful Advent Spotify Playlist!

Those Who Dream from A Sanctified Art

Can be sold in a bundle with art, poetry, daily devotional, sermon/reflection prep, liturgies (including one for a “blue Christmas” service), and much more. For those who don’t need the whole bundle package – each aspect can be purchased individually. The prices are low, and the imagery of God and holiness is inclusive.

Advent for Families: In Light and Darkness from Illustrated Ministry

Created as an at-home faith resource, Advent for Families includes weekly scripture, reflection, discussion questions, prayer, and an activity.
